WHERE TO GO ON HONEYMOON

Honeymoon outfits planned, bags packed? Then you're ready for a post-wedding getaway with a difference at one of these fantasy destinations... By CATHERINE FAIRWEATHER

PANTREPANT Jamaica

After the glamour and bright lights of the coast at Chris Blackwell's Oracabessa Bay GoldenEye estate – forever stamped in the popular imagination thanks to the image of Ursula Andress emerging from the waves in white bikini in Dr. No – Pantrepant is another world. Here, on a private 2,500-acre estate, you will swim in waterfalls, float in the natural swimming pool created around the ruins of a former sugar mill, gallop across unfenced countryside and eat the organic fruits and vegetables of the land served to you in the shade of a 100-year-old guango tree. The peaceful honeymoon cottage is a rose-festooned, story-book two-bedroom retreat with wraparound verandas and comes fully staffed.

A PRIVATE RETREAT

The cottage is nestled in the grounds of a working farm, which also supplies the on-site kitchen
